CIRCULAR.

THE Works of the HONGKONG AND CHINA GAS Co., being fast approaching completion, the Directors are desirous on this the first introduction of Gas into the Colony to draw the attention of the inhabitants to the advantages to be derived by its use over all other methods of lighting, not only with respect to brilliancy, cleanliness, and safety—but from economy and permanency.
The following are a few of the inducements for the adoption of Gas, when compared with Oil or Candles as ascertained in every part of the Globe where works have been established:—
1st.—It is safer than Oil or Candles as there are no Wicks or Sparks.
2nd.—No injury to Carpets or Furniture by the dropping of oil.
3rd.—No Waste by Carelessness or dishonest servants.
4th.—It is lighted, increased, diminished or extinguished in a moments time.
5th.—The light from a Gas Burner consuming 5 ft. of Gas per hour is equal to 12 Candles, and will illuminate a room to the same extent. Houses can be either partially or wholly lighted at once, and can have extra lights affixed at any future time. The yearly cost being in exact proportion to the number of burners required.
The Manager will shortly prepare for inspection in the Co.'s Town Office, Queen's Road, a great variety of carefully selected Chandeliers fittings, &c., of various designs, from these choice can be made as may be deemed most suitable for the buildings proposed to be lighted up.
Advice will be given as to rendering existing Chandeliers and other fittings available for Gas and estimates of the cost for complete or partial lighting of any building, however large or small can speedily be furnished.
The Company guarantee that the work executed by their employes shall be in every respect efficient and free from every danger.
The Directors in fixing the price of Gas, viz.,—$5 per thousand cubic feet, trust to ensure its introduction speedily into every household and this moderate price will they believe ultimately extend its use to the principal Cities of China.
All accounts against the Company, must be presented for examination on or before every Friday, and payments will be made for same on application any Saturday between the hours of 10 and 12 A.M., at the Company's Town Office, over the "Hongkong Dispensary."

QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY.
GRAND DISPLAY.

PROFESSOR GORS, the well known Pyrotechnist having been desired by many influential patrons to devote his second exhibition of fire works to the celebration of the birthday of Her Gracious Majesty, Queen Victoria, he has at a great sacrifice of time and consequently of expense, in remembrance of the warm support and courteous assistance bestowed on him at all places within the British dominions which he has visited, assented to this loyal suggestion.
He accordingly begs leave to announce that his Second Exhibition will take place on Tuesday the 24th inst., on the Parade Ground.
The better to do honor to the occasion, and to appreciate the great and wide spread popularity of Her Majesty, it is proposed to make the exhibition a public one, suitable arrangements being made for the accommodation of subscribers, and the requisite space whence the poorer classes may view the exhibition with satisfaction.
Professor Gors therefore begs leave to open and circulate a Subscription List, which he respectfully submits to the Nobility and Gentry of this Colony in the hope of obtaining liberal donations in order that he may cover his expenses, which amount to from $900 a $1,000 to enable him
To reserve the Parade Ground with the kind permission of the Military Authorities for the paying public—the poor classes being allowed to view the Spectacle on the space outside that limit.
At the same time Professor Gors intends to solicit for permission for the Soldiers of the Garrison to attend, as well for their diversion as for the better protection of the space assigned to the subscribers, from the crush of the crowd.
Should the amount of the Subscription not approximate the sum named, then the Exhibition will take place, as on the first occasion, at the Head Quarter Grounds, kindly placed at the disposal of Professor Gors for the purpose of amusing the public, by His Excellency General Brown, the Commander-in-Chief.
The Programme will be nearly the same as on the first occasion; a few new devices being added, and several advantageous alterations made.

HONGKONG, 16TH MAY, 1864.

OUR contemporary of the Evening Mail in his issue of the 3d inst., published the amusing effusion which we reproduce below. He placed it under the following heading. "The "strong plain common-sense of what appears "in our columns having been brought repea-"tedly to our notice, we have for variety's "sake engaged a correspondent in whom this "quality is utterly absent. We now present "our readers with his first effusion."

The joke connected with the effusion is one of the best we have known for some little time, and how far our contemporary is in the secret of it, we do not rightly understand. The document is a veritable translation of the address which the Chinese government contractors presented to Mr. Cleverly on leaving, and which that officer had translated and set vast store by. How our contemporary got hold of it we cannot fancy. He certainly has turned it to a very effective purpose. It really is most ludicrous—it beats Artemus Ward hollow. It will of course be a wonderful curiosity in the district wherein the Honorable Charles St. George was dragged up.

"In all time it has only been the man whose virtue reaches to others that could move them to gratitude and reverence, and to retain the memory of him when he was gone away.

Long has this spot borne the name of fragrant (Heang Keang or Hongkong). But how came this about? It was a poor island in a remote corner, with thick forests and deep valleys, full of rocky crags, presenting the aspect of so many dangerous defiles. The winds and the rains stormed round it till beasts and birds were afraid; thick mists flew about it, till human footsteps there were none. Who could have delineated it? Who could have divided it so that it should become the quiet dwelling of merchants and traders, rejoicing in its advantages? Fortunately the Surveyor-General, Mr. Cleverly, got the charge of this territory, administration of this ground. First he made out his grand plans and in the end he completed his great achievements. He removed the hills and filled up the sea. He dug through precipitous steeps and opened ways into the quiet solitudes. Over the whole island through an extent of several tens of les he laid out his schemes with order, and the work of building went on according to rule. Stone mansions arose a hundred feet high like kings' palaces; houses appeared by the thousand, like residences of the genii. A praya with its landing places was reared, firm as a mountain; smooth and level as a whetstone became the roads macadamised.

Moreover he planted trees to gather around them the solicitous harmonies of the elements, and and the people were all made happy. He opened up drains to carry off all pestilential influences, and that source of calamity was taken away. Thus it came about that the noise of traffickers' carriages rumbles along incessantly, and visitors ramble about in their gay dresses. Flowers are seen throughout the four seasons like rivers and hills embroidered on silk, and the grass grows all through the months of spring, making one think of the times of the golden age.

If this great man had not exerted all his mind and strength, been pure and benevolent, how could he have made merchants on the spot rejoice, and others come from far, the people all prosperous and resources all abundant so as it is beautiful to behold? But alas! from his work accomplished he is about to withdraw. The time is fixed when he will turn his flag backwards. We cannot detain his chariot. For twenty years he has pursued his worthy toil. His fame is unlimited. In what lofty strains should the whiteness of the purity of his life be celebrated! We are here assembled, merchants and others with our parting gift, but it is not guns and sceptres of office that we bring. We faintly show forth the feelings of our hearts. We pour the wine into the golden cups, and with him the eyebrow of longevity. As when of old they gave the parting feast at the eastern gate and escorted for the object of their love to the Southern Banks, we shall see him gloriously return to his fatherland. Assuredly he will increase the glory of history and throughout the middle flowery land his merits displayed will for ever have such eulogy as that in the ode of "The sweet Pear-tree." We with our poor sincerity are here with our song and our praise, which we beseech him, with his complaisance and condescension vast as the Ocean, to accept.

O'er the windy billows to the Flowery land he came,
For twenty years he toiled, and acquired a glorious name;
The ground he opened, boundaries stretched, all men his merit saw.
And pure was he without a stain, a gem without a flaw.
Severely pure our hero was, of self without a thought.
In love, as for his children dear, were all the deeds he wrought;
His bounties rich and manifold were shared by high and low—
Hills, streams, grass, trees, and all things did for him the brighter grow.
Autumn and Spring, or cold or heat, each season, every hour
Went gloriously upon the works of his transforming power;
And so long live our Sovereign Queen! and the glad tidings send
How on this Isle successfully her servant's labours end,
Yes, labours ended, fame acquired, his time to go is set;
We Merchants touched with gratitude the man can ne'er forget;
Our cup of wine we offer up and our desire express
That soon he may, at Seen or Budh, the world around him bless.

WE have received the following from a most reliable source, and call the attention of our readers thereto, pending the remarks which we intend making thereon in a day or two:—

LETTER TO THE EDITOR.
Neutrality in China.

To the Editor of the "Daily Press."

SIR,—The Parliamentry inquiry into the conduct of British officials in China may possibly be burked by those tools of the Foreign office who make it a rule never to have any information on the subject mooted by such inquisitive people as Col. Sykes. They seem to be in blissful ignorance of the most palpable facts whenever it suits their policy, and that it has always for the last three years suited their policy to "have no information on the subject", it may not be out of place to ask, why, where they have so many well paid Consuls and Consular Interpreters, they do not insist on these officials sending home regular fortnightly summaries of events in which they have acted a part. No Merchant would retain a Chinese agent for a month who did not send him all the information connected with his profession which was procurable. It seems, therefore, that the manikins in the Foreign office either lie most stoutly or neglect their manifest duties most wantonly. In either case they are inexcusable. To supply a tithe of the information which the champions of non intervention in the internal affairs of China require, I will give from memory a sketch of matters which came under my observation during the past two and a half or three years. I chanced to be at Shanghai when the Taipings approached that city and was at Ningpo three days before the Rebels captured that city. As Ningpo was captured, a brief narrative of the events which preceded and followed the capture may not be out of place, as shewing the gross incapacity and the willful duplicity of H. B. M. Consular and Naval officers on duty there.

After capturing Shao-Shing Pakvan and Zongyu and establishing a military government at each of these places, the Taipings advanced on Yuyso. If the Radius scheme was to be brought into operation at all, then was the moment for the British to tell the Taipings, "Thus far shalt thou come but no further." But from the conduct of the British Consul at that time the public are justified in believing that the Radius dodge had not been thought of and that it was an invention of land jobbers of a later date. The Taipings Captured Yuyao; a Deputation of Foreigners composed of the French and American Consul and the British Consular assistant visited the Chiefs and demanded information of their intentions. The Taipings informed the deputation that they intended to capture Ningpo city so that they might have a port of entry for arms and ammunition wherewith to carry on the war on an equality with the Imperialists; at the same time, they gave the deputation every assurance that the Foreign quarter at Ningpo would be respected.—then if ever, if our officials were honest, or if they thought themselves justified in so doing, was the moment to inform the Rebels that we had entered into an offensive and defensive treaty with the Court of Pekin; but the representative of England, a boy in years and a fop, in manner ridiculously pompous though, said not a word except that he was happy to have the assurance of the friendship of the Rebel Chiefs.

The iniquitous fiction of treaty obligations to support the Court of Pekin had not been invented because it had not been discovered that such a fiction would pay.—The discovery was not long delayed. The officials of Yu yao had retreated to Ningpo and to avoid a heavy war tax in the Native City they took up their abode in the Foreign quarter. Rents began to rise, land began to be bought and sold. The foreign quarter would be a city of refuge. It would be highly impolitic to tell the Taipings to make Yu Yao the finish of their conquest in the direction of Ningpo, for there was plenty of vacant ground within a 30 miles radius to build on. So the Rebels came, saw, and conquered Ningpo. They kept every promise they made respecting the sanctity of the foreign quarter. They traded largely in such commodities as they required. They took Chinhae and there was no blockade of the port. Therefore, arms and powder were imported duty free and sold to advantage from Chekiang, it was conveyed via Hangchow to Kiangsee and now the rebels marched as they thought to the capture of Shanghai and be it still remembered, that up to this time, say, a month after the capture of Ningpo the 30 miles radius was never mentioned.

The parliamentary inquiry into the conduct of British naval officers in their interference with the rebellion at Shanghai and Ningpo should commence with Admiral Hope. It should be clearly understood however, that Admiral Hope was the dupe of the consulate interpreter at Shanghai and a few greedy land speculators. These men, one of whom has lately left China, saw that a good job could be made out of making the foreign concession a city of refuge for the Chinese. The register at the British Consulate at Shanghai shews at once who these parties were. They were not altogether selfish. I believe they bought and presented to the admiral a piece of ground which now stands in his name. Prior to any action against the Taipings, the authorities at Shanghai received several letters from the Chang-Wong, assuring foreigners that it was not his intention to interfere with foreign interests, but on the contrary, he would guarantee protection. These letters were treated with silent contempt and a notice was issued in placard round the streets of the settlement informing the Taipings that the British authorities would act against them pursuant to this notice. The admiral (Hope) arranged with Gen Ward to attack the rebel position at Kor Jeor. He said he would give "moral support" to Ward's disciplineds. This "Moral support" consisted in all the marines and Blue Jackets at Hope's disposal—several guns and a quantity of shell, under cover of a fire from which Ward's men charged the enemy. Hope told the Rebels that if they fired at his men he would return it; he then placed his men in such a position that it was impossible for the rebels to reach the disciplineds without endangering the marines.

It was in this "who'll-tread-on-the-tail-of-my-coat" style that the gallant admiral obtained a pretext to make war on the Taipings, the land-jobbers at Shanghai hounded the admiral on, till he had advanced too far to recede with honor. Hope was misled by his interpreters and he might be excused did not that land spec. shew that he took advantage of his wrong.

Dew acted in a similar manner at Ningpo. He had the effrontery to make a compact with the most notorious pirate on the China Coast—a scoundrel named Apak These well—met worthies were ably seconded by Consul Harvey. Harvey told the Rebels that in the Imperialist attempt to recapture Ningpo the British men of war would be neutral; but if the rebels' shot endangered any of our vessels then would they return the fire. Chinhae fell an easy prey. Apak's fleet sailed up the river; the gun-boat Kestrel took up their position about 200 yards from the Rebel battery; she had steam up. One of Apak's tymings then sailed up past the Kestrel, fired a broad side at the Rebel fort, tacked and ran behind the Kestrel as per arrangement with Dew; the rebels fired at the Tyming but the shot struck the Kestrel, when—presto, the Encounter opened fire on the City. Dew imitated Hope exactly, and Harvey at Ningpo out-lied Alabaster at Shanghai when representing the affair to his superiors. Harvey jobbed in land, so did Alabaster. Dew is not contaminated with any of the Ningpo clay as Hope is with Shanghai mud; instead, he received from the city authorities at Ningpo a monthly fee of $3000 per month while he remained on the station, besides $10000 for the recapture of Ningpo, $5,000 for You-Yao, $3000 for Yong Yu and it is affirmed $1000 for Shaoshing.—More after.

ACCIDENTS AND OFFENCES

BURGLARY.—About one o'clock on Saturday morning a gang consisting of about 30 men, armed with pistols, spears, and stink-pots, broke into a China house in Spring Gardens, in which, meeting with some resistance from one of the inmates, they wounded him in the head with a spear and threw a stink pot, which had the effect of driving away the owners while the thieves possessed themselves of everything of the slightest value, and made off with the plunder. Two of the burglars can be recognised if seen by the inmates

ANOTHER BURGLARY was committed in a Court leading out of the Queen's Road about 4 o'clock on the same morning. Bricks were removed from the wall, leaving a hole large enough to admit the body of a man, through which the entry was effected to the house. Only a few articles of wearing apparel were stolen, which were afterwards discovered by the police in a Coolie house in the neighbourhood, in which five coolies were apprehended on suspicion of being concerned in the robbery.

IT is most respectfully intimated to Parents and Guardians, that, the New School lately erected in Pottinger Street corner of Wellington Street, in a style suitable to the wants of the climate and managed with a view of meeting the peculiar want of this Commercial Colony, is now in full operation.
The system of tuition adopted in these Schools is purely Commercial; Arithmetic, Book-keeping, Geometry, Geography, History, Grammar, Composition, Foreign Languages, Music, and Drawing, are taught by proficient resident Masters.—No objection is made to the admission of any Pupil on the score of religion nor will the religious feelings of any pupil be tampered with.
On March next, a suit of large Airy Rooms, will be opened in the same Schools for the reception of Boarder Pupils. To Boys leaving home for the first time, the change will be made as easy as can be by the kindness which shall be shown them and by the exclusion of everything materially coersive.
